LONDON.

The Auſtrian Account of the Battle of Torgau on the 3d of November laſt, after mentioning ſome Particulars of what happened that Day, goes on thus,

—AFTER this, the greateſt Part of the King of Pruſſia's two Lines, and of his Reſerve were repulſed, with great Loſs, in the furious Attacks they repeatedly made, in which our Artillery did the greateſt Execution; and the Enemy were compelled to regain the Wood with the Loſs of their Cannon.——Marſhal Daun, who had been ſhot thro' the Leg at the Head of the Infantry of the Reſerve, now cauſed his Wound to be dreſſed; and Night coming on, ordered himſelf to be carried to Torgau, after reſigning the Command profeſſionally, to Count O'Donnel, Gen. of the Horſe.

The Infantry of our Left were overpowered by the incredible Fatigue they had undergone: Beſides, they had not one Cartridge left; ſeveral of the Generals who commanded them were wounded, and Night prevented the ſending them for Troops and more Ammunition. In theſe Circumſtances, they were under a Neceſſity of removing a little, from the laſt of the Eminences of Siplitz, which was thereupon occupied by Gen. Ziethen's whole Force united.

Our Army paſſed the Night on the Field of Battle, ſtill keeping a Part of the Heights; and the Pruſſian General remained on the Eminence he had juſt taken Poſſeſſion of. The uninterrupted Fire from Two in the Afternoon till near Eight at Night, had conſumed all the Ammunition for the Artillery and ſmall Arms; there was ſcarce any Proſpect of being able to diſlodge the Enemy next Day from the Heights, where they had had Time to eſtabliſh themſelves ſo firmly during the Night; thoſe Heights commanded our Army, ſo that its Poſition was not tenable. It was therefore reſolved to make the Army croſs the Elbe, and to cauſe the Corps under Gen. Laſcy to march by the left Side of the River towards Belgern, for the Sake of Subſiſtances.

All this was Executed in the beſt Order, and with the greateſt Tranquility: The Carriages that paſſed the Elbe with the Army did not leave a ſingle Wheel behind: The three Bridges of Boats thrown over near Torgau, were taken up, without any Moleſtation: And that Town was previouſly evacuated, only ſome Iron Guns, the Carriages of which were broke, being left in it. The Country-Boats employed in the Bridges were burnt, and the Pontoons being put into the Carts, followed the Army without any Oppoſition from the Enemy; and the Army had got ſome Diſtance from the Elbe, when we ſaw ſome of the Enemy's Horſe and Huſſars, who took Poſſeſſion of Torgau, where there was nothing for them.

Thus ended this Bloody Action, which perhaps with not had its equal for many Years, if we conſider the extreme Vivacity of the Fire, and the extraordinary Obſtinacy with which both Sides fought. Tho' it hath not had the Conſequences that were hoped for, it is at leaſt certain, that it muſt add freſh Luſtre to the juſt Reputation our Troops had already acquired.

It is impoſſible as yet to calculate exactly our Loſs: We conjecture it may amount to 10 or 12,000, killed, wounded or miſſing. An exact Account ſhall be given of them, as well as of the Artillery, which we were obliged to leave on the Field of Battle for Want of Horſes, many being killed or wounded, or gone away.

We have taken from the Enemy 39 Colours, 20 Standards, and eight Pieces of Cannon. The Priſoners we made are Lieut. Gen. Finckenſtein, Lieut. Gen. Behlau; ſeveral Colonels and Officers of Rank; about 100 other Officers; near 4000 Subalterns or private Men. Their Loſs, to judge by the Pruſſians we ſaw lying on the Ground where the Battle was fought, amounts at leaſt to 20,000 Men.

December 8. This Morning John Tune, late Captain of the Young Eagle Privateer, was hanged at Execution Dock, Purſuant to his Sentence: He behaved very penitent and calm in his Situation, and adviſed his Brother Sailors to be honeſt, and by no Means to get Riches by illegal Practices. His Body was afterwards hung in Chains below Blackwall.

In the Bill of Entry Yeſterday we find 8640 Packs of Cards for Guadaloupe.

Dec. 24. They write from Vienna, that the Auſtrian Grand Army was in its former Poſition the 30th paſt, and the Head-quarters at Dreſden, under the Command of Count O'Donnel; General Campitelli joined it the ſame Day; General Haddick had fixed his Head-quarters at Zwickau, and General Laudohn, with his Troops, was at Richenſtein; all preparing to go into Winter Quarters.

According to the laſt Advices from the Army under the Hereditary Prince, his Head-quarters were at Coſevelt, which is about thirty Miles from Vreeden. Vreeden is only two Engliſh Miles from the Dutch Territory, and the Troops of the Allied Army form a Kind of Chain from that Place to Warbourg, which is upwards of 200 Miles.

There are Accounts from Theſſalonica, the Capital of Macedonia, in Turky, of prodigious Ravages made by the Plague in that City; beſides which, the Earthquakes, ſo frequent laſt Year, began to be felt again in Auguſt laſt, and continued almoſt daily: One of them was followed by a Ball of Fire, which roſe from the Earth at the Eaſt Part of the City, and directed its Courſe horizontally towards the Weſt; its Appearance nearly reſembling a Full Moon. After the next Shock they had a violent Hurricane, followed with very heavy Rains and terrible Thunder-Claps; inſomuch that the Inhabitants, who eſcaped the Infection, were in continual Terror.

There was not long ago taken out of the Sea, near Weſt-Capelle on the Coaſt of Zealand, a great Block of Stone, weighing near 150 Pounds, entirely eaten by Worms, immenſe Numbers of which, of the Size of a Man's little Finger, were found in it. Their Bodies were ſoft, reſembling thoſe of Snails, but on each Side of the Head, they have an extreme hard Shell, reſembling a Saw, with which they had perforated the Stone, and are thought to be the ſame Kind of Worms that have been ſo fatal to the Dykes.

If Modeſty and Moderation, if Patience and Forbearance, if a Paſſion for Treating, and an overſeeming Fondneſs for Negotiation, could have availed us any Thing, we had not been at this Juncture involved in a very expenſive, though a very juſt and neceſſary War. But if we had not taken a Reſolution to exert our Force in Time; if we had not ſent a Fleet to North America, as we did; and if that Fleet had not been commanded by ſuch an Officer as Boſcawen, our Colonies at this Hour might have been in much the ſame Situation that we now behold thoſe of France. In this State, one may be bold to ſay, our National Strength had been as much, or more, drained than it is at preſent.

Did we enter into this War for nobody knows what? No certainly. The War was recommended by the Nation to the Throne, and the Ends of it very plainly pointed out to be the obtaining Satisfaction for paſt Injuries, and Security for the Time to come. We have obtained both by the War, and we are like to retain them, ſince the only Way by which we can loſe them, is by making ſuch another Peace, as Ourſelves and our Anceſtors have often made, when, at the Expence of the Blood and Treaſure of this Country, we ſtood well intitled to a better.

We are now, bleſſed be God, in no Danger of ſeeing ſuch an Event happen again. We have a good and gracious King, born in Britain, who has given us the ſtrongeſt aſſurances that he has nothing at Heart but the Good of his Subjects. We have wiſe and able Miniſters, under whom our Fleets and Armies have been Victorious. We have a great and proſperous Trade, while that of our Enemies is almoſt ſunk to nothing. Add to all this, that there is an Unanimity amongſt the People never known in our Days; and not a nominal, but an actual Extinction of Parties. From theſe Principles the natural Concluſion is, that we ſhall have a ſpeedy, laſting, and glorious Peace, provided we continue in this happy Diſpoſition.

Dec. 29. Letters from Mieſſen of the firſt of this Month ſay, that Orders had been delivered out for recruiting the Pruſſian Army with all Expedition, and the proper Officers diſpatched to all the neighbouring Towns and Villages to carry them into Execution; and that the Terms for liſting being agreeable to the Country People, a great Number offered themſelves, declaring they had much rather ſerve the Pruſſians than the Auſtrians; the latter of whom, they ſay, under one frivolous Pretext or other, frequently tricking them out of ſuch Proviſions as they carried to ſell at their Camp; whereas the former always dealt fairly and honeſtly with them: However, no Saxons were inrolled, but ſuch as were ſtout, able young Fellows.

Yeſterday Morning died of a malignant Fever at his Country Seat near Guildford, Surry, the Right Honourable EDWARD BOSCAWEN, Eſq; (next Brother to the Lord Viſcount Falmouth) Member of Parliament for Truro in Cornwall, one of the Elder Brethren of the Trinity-Houſe, Admiral of the Blue, and one of his Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy Council. As he was one of the beſt Officers in the Navy, therefore his Death is univerſally lamented. He has left a diſconſolate Widow, and ſeveral Children.

December 31. They write from Toulon, that twenty Engliſh Seamen who were Priſoners in their Arſenal, found Means, by ſecuring the Goaler, to make their Eſcape; and finding a Boat on the Shore, they put to Sea in her, and would abſolutely have got off, if they had not attempted to board a Tartane loaded with Cheſnuts for this Port; but when they came near her, being over eager to board, they all got on one Side of the Boat, and overſet her; Twelve of them were drowned, the Reſt ſaved themſelves by ſwimming, but have been retaken, and now confined in ſuch a Manner, that no Hopes is left them of eſcaping a ſecond Time.

A Letter from Malta has the following Account: Our Grand Maſter has cauſed the Flag of the Order to be hoiſted on board the Ottoman Veſſel which was lately brought in here by the Chriſtian Slaves; it took ſix Days to unload her, and the Cargo, conſiſting of Money, Goods, wearing Apparel, &c. has been diſtributed amongſt them, and in that diſtribution the Friends or Relations of thoſe who fell in the bold Attempt of recovering their Liberty have not been forgot: Among theſe brave Fellows were nine Malteſe; two of whom were killed in the Attack, and a third died here of his Wounds: The Turkiſh Pilot, on Account of his cruel Treatment to the Chriſtians whilſt they remained Slaves, has been clapped in Irons, in which Condition he will probably remain during his Life.

There are now in and near London a Breed of Bulls and Cows, brought from ſome of the Countries bordering on the Gulph of Perſia, whoſe Stature, although at their full Growth, is inferior to a Lincolnſhire Sheep. They have a large Camel-like Protuberance of Fat on the Top of their Shoulders.

January 3. On Friday last, as a poor Man was picking dead Wood in the Grove in Hyde park, he saw a Gentleman, with a Sword by his Side and a Cockade in his Hat, walking in a very penſive Manner; and thinking he might come there to fight a Duel, he laid down and concealed himſelf behind a Bank. Soon after the Gentleman came near the Place where he lay, and took a Paper out of his Pocket, which, after reading, he tore. He then pulled out a Piſtol, looked at the Priming, and beat the Flint with a Key. After throwing his Hat on the Ground, he clapt the Piſtol to his Head, but it only flaſhing in the Pan, the Perſon who was concealed, run up to him, and laid Hold of the Piſtol; upon which the Gentleman drew his Sword upon the poor Man, who told him, He fear'd Death as little as he did, and had more Courage, for that he had lived twenty Years in Pain and Miſery, and left it to God to put an End to them. The Gentleman was ſo ſtruck with the Rebuke, that he burſt into Tears, gave the Man a Purſe with ſeveral Guineas, took down his Name, where to find him, and made him ſwear never to take any Notice of him, if at any Time he ſhould chance to meet him.

Bath, Dec. 25. Mr. Brookman provided for the Entertainment of his Friends, (beſides Beef, Hams, Fowls, Pies, Puddings, Tarts, &c. in great Plenty,) a LARGE CHRISTMAS LOAF, weighing, as ſuppoſed, about Four Hundred Wt. and by its Side placed a LARGE CHESHIRE CHEESE of Three Hundred Three Quarters and Three Pounds Weight. [Two bouncing Companions.]

Admiralty-Office, Jan. 2. Rear Admiral Rodney, by Letter of the 31ſt paſt, gives an Account, that his Majeſty's Sloops the Carcaſs and Bonetta, which he had ſent in Purſuit of a French Snow Privateer, chaſed her till ſhe fell in with his Majeſty's Ship the Tweed, which took her. She is called the Du Guay Trouin, of 10 Guns and 52 Men, had been out three Days from St. Malo, and taken nothing.

The Rear Admiral gives a farther Account, that the Anſon Cutter has taken a French Cutter Privateer, of 10 Guns, 54 Men, belonging to Dunkirk, which has been five Days from Havre, and had not taken any Thing.

Admiralty-Office, Jan. 17. Lieut. John Symons, of his Majeſty's Ship the Unicorn, of 28 Guns and 200 Men, gives an Account, in a Letter dated at Plymouth the 11th Inſtant, That on the 8th Capt. Hunt, (his Predeceſſor in the Command of that Ship) being cruizing off the Penmarks, diſcovered, at Eight in the Morning, a Sail to the Northward; to which he gave Chace, and found to be a French Frigate. At half paſt Ten the Unicorn came up with and begun to engage her, and continued in cloſe Action with her till near half paſt Twelve: At which Time the Enemy ſtruck, and proved to be the Veſtal, a Frigate of the French King's, commanded by M. Boiſbertelot, mouting 26 Twelve and Nine Pounders upon her Lower Deck, and four Six Pounders on the Quarter Deck and Forecaſtle, with 220 Men. She eſcaped (as the Priſoners declared) from the River Vilaine on the 2d Inſtant, under Convoy of a very thick Fog, in Company with two Ships of 64, Le Grand of 34, and Caliſpo of 16 Guns, and was bound to Breſt.

Capt. Hunt received a Gunſhot Wound the third Broadſide, in his right Thigh, of which he died an Hour after the Action was over.

The Unicorn had five Men killed and ten wounded, ſix of whom dangerouſly.

The Veſtal had many killed and wounded; and among the latter M. Boiſbertelot, who loſt his Leg, and died of the Wound next Day.

Lieut. Symons adds, that the Day after the Action, he ſaw a Sail to Windward, which had greatly the Appearance of a French Ship, and bore down upon him for about half an Hour, then hauled her Wind, and ſtood in for the Land. That on the 10th, in the Morning, he ſaw two Ships engaging, which proved to be his Majeſty's Ship Seahorſe, and Le Grand Frigate above-mentioned, the latter of which made all the Sail ſhe could from the other, upon the Unicorn's coming within two Gunſhot of them, and eſcaped, notwithſtanding he chaced her till Evening, having greatly the Advantage in Sailing, the Unicorn having got a Mizen-top-maſt up for a Fore-top-maſt, to eaſe the Fore-maſt; and a Main-top-gallant-maſt for a Mizen-top-maſt, and her Sails and Rigging much damaged in the Action with the Veſtal.

Capt. James Smith, of his Majeſty's Ship Seahorſe, of 20 Guns and 160 Men, by Letter dated at Plymouth the 11th Inſtant, gives the following Account of the above-mention'd Action with Le Grand Frigate, which happened 34 Leagues S. W. from the Start, viz. That he ſaw her in the Morning about Eight o'Clock, in the S. E. Quarter, crowding down upon him; that he continued his Courſe and prepared to engage. At a Quarter before Eleven the Enemy came within Piſtol Shot, and an Action began, which laſted an Hour and Quarter with great Warmth, during which the Ships were Board and Board three different times, which occaſioned great Slaughter on both Sides. The Enemy then left the Seahorſe (as is before-mention'd in Mr. Symons's Letter) notwithſtanding his utmoſt Endeavours to bring her to Action a ſecond Time.

The Seahorſe had 11 Men killed, and 38 wounded, many of the latter, Capt. Smith fears, cannot recover.

Lieut. Symons is preferr'd to the Command of the Mortar Sloop.

And another Captain is appointed to the Seahorſe, (which is to proceed, the Moment ſhe is refitted, on her outward-bound Voyage) that Capt. Smith may be at home, in the Way to be preferr'd the firſt Opportunity.

Both theſe Gentlemen give the Officers and Seamen of their reſpective Ships the greateſt Encomiums for their Bravery during the above Engagements.

His Majeſty's Sloop Swallow has brought into Plymouth the Valour Privateer of St. Malo, of four Carriage Guns and 28 Men, taken by the Aquilon.

And the Hornet Sloop has taken and brought into Plymouth the Chevalier d'Artheſſary, a Snow Privateer belonging to Granville, of eight Carriage and ſix Swivel Guns, and 58 Men.

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.

Extract of a Letter from New-York, March 16.

"By the Tamar Sloop of War, Captain Lee, who left Portſmouth the 29th of January, we have Advice, that there are two Expeditions going on in England; one ſuppoſed for the Eaſt, the other the Weſt-Indies: That there was not the leaſt Appearance of Peace, nor no Talk of any Congreſs, tho' the French gave out that there was to be one: That our Miniſtry ſeemed reſolved not to make Peace till they could get a moſt honourable One: That it was ſaid the King of Pruſſia would take the Field this Month with 150,000 Troops: That it was reported two of the French Ships, that had been detained ſo long in the Vilaine, were taken: And that the Grand Expedition Fleet laſt Fall, was deſigned againſt Belleiſle, every Foot of Ground of which Place was ſtrongly ſecured by Trenches."

ANNAPOLIS, March 26.

The General Aſſembly of this Province is Prorogued to Monday the 13th of next Month; when it is certainly to meet for the Diſpatch of Public Buſineſs.

Since our laſt, we have received Public Prints, to the 19th of January, brought by Capt. Judſon Coolidge, in the Wilſon, who left England the latter End of January. By the Prints we have the melancholy Account of the Loſs of many of our Ships, which ſail'd from hence laſt Fall. The George, Chew, is taken and carried into St. Maloes: The Neptune, Bigg; Nelly, Wilkinſon; Friendſhip, Mc Dougal; Fortune, Chriſtie; Wye-River, Noel; Eliſabeth, Shaftoe; and Charming Betſey, Hunter; are all taken and carried into Bayonne: Theſe are all that we find mentioned in the Papers; but it is ſaid there were ſix or ſeven Others taken.

Sunday laſt arrived here, Capt. Jacob Walters in the Ship St. George, from London and Teneriffe.

Capt. Montgomerie, in the Montgomerie, is arrived in Patuxent from Glaſgow.

Yeſterday arrived here from Barbados, in the Schooner Cheſter, Capt. Tho. Ireland, who left that Iſland the 18th of February; he informs us, that Commodore DOUGLASS having been acquainted by the Temple and Emerald Men of War, that they had Chaced a 70 Gun French Man of War, a French Frigate, and a Store Ship, into the Granades, the Commodore, with Two other Ships of the Line, ſail'd immediately down in order to block them in; and the whole Fleet was ſoon to ſail from Carliſle-Bay, in order to join him, in an Attack againſt thoſe Iſlands.

One Day laſt Week, an Overſeer of a Plantation in Prince-George's County, Beat a Young Negro Fellow, committed to his Charge, to Death. [What a pity it is, that INHUMANITY ſhould be a neceſſary ingredient in the compoſition of a GOOD OVERSEER!]

Sunday laſt Died here in an advanced Age, Mrs. Mary Callahan, who was many Years an eminent Midwife.

WHEREAS I have told divers Perſons, and particularly Daniel Killum and Charles Pickarring of Talbot County, that Mrs. Mary Edmondſon, Wife of Mr. Pollard Edmondſon, on or about the 11th Day of February laſt, came with her Daughter Mrs. Martin, into the Store that I kept for Mr. Joſhua Clark at Talbot County Court-Houſe; and, that whilſt the ſaid Mrs. Edmondſon and Mrs. Martin were in the Store, I miſs'd a Piece of Linen, and that I put my Hand on a Pillow Caſe which Mrs. Edmondſon brought into the Store with her, and felt therein a Piece of Linen, and that I wink'd at Daniel Killum to take Notice of it; and whereas I told the ſaid Daniel Killum and Charles Pickarring, that I ſuſpected Mrs. Edmondſon had taken the ſaid Piece of Linen out of the Store; and whereas I did deſire the ſaid Daniel Killum to go to the Houſe of Dr. Martin, where Mrs. Edmondſon was, and to tell Mrs. Edmondſon, that if ſhe would bring back the ſaid Piece of Linen, I would not tell the ſaid Joſhua Clark thereof, nor ſpeak to him about it; and whereas the ſaid Mrs. Edmondſon has made it evidently appear, to my intire Satisfaction, that what I took to be the Piece of Linen which I miſs'd, was the greater Part of a Piece of Linen of her own, which ſhe brought into the Store with her in the Pillow Caſe. Now I do think myſelf bound in Conſcience, and in Juſtice to Mrs. Edmondſon's Character, to declare to the World, that I was miſtaken in my Apprehenſions of the Matter, and that my Suſpicions were without the leaſt real Foundation; and I do hereby own my Raſhneſs, and Indiſcretion, in divulging my Suſpicions upon ſo ſlender Grounds; and I do take this public Method of aſking Mrs. Edmondſon's Pardon, for having made uſe of her Name ſo indiſcreetly and unwarrantably; and I do hereby declare, that I have not any Reaſon to ſuſpect that the ſaid Mrs. Edmondſon took the ſaid Piece of Linen, or any Thing elſe out of the ſaid Store, unknown to the Store-keepers, or was, or would be guilty of any ſuch Act: And whereas Daniel Killum alledges, and has Sworn (as I am informed) that I did in direct Terms aſſert, that Mrs. Edmondſon had taken the ſaid Piece of Linen out of the Store, I do utterly deny that I ever made any ſuch direct Charge, but only communicated to him the Cauſes aforeſaid of my Suſpicions (which I do acknowledge to be groundleſs); and do further acknowledge, that if I did make ſuch direct Charge, the ſame was falſe, ſcandalous, and without any other Foundation than my miſtaken Apprehenſion aforeſaid.
